Summary:

The motivation behind this research is good but somewhere unclear. The resulting methodology is explained yet the topic is unclear about methodology. Author talks about the privacy policies online and it talks about survey method.

General Limitations and Strengths:

Limitation to the proposed research would be that there are ample of technologies available right now. I feel it relates more from the business perspective rather than the technology perspective. Author seems to not know the term 'meta-analysis' well. There are certainly good addition to the research by talking about privacy policy, however the search could have been more clear and specific.

Strengths and limitations of the proposed methodology:

The survey method could have been explained with some sort of proof. There is no research question hence it becomes difficult to understand the proposed methodology. The methodology section contains more methodologies that previously existed.

The limitation lies where author talks about privacy policy of websites, as there are hundreds of research online and the more search related to the topic could have been even more nicer. The search focused towards a particular privacy policy would have definitely been beneficial according to me.

Overall quality:

After checking this overall, I feel the English language is quite good.

The section where the student has tried to explain methodology, in that section the mentioned PPDM technology could have been briefly explained. Considering the whole report, I also feel that the background is little bit off track in the end. It could have been nicely improvised with a particular method or result.

The research remains clear and the search string could have been better and focused. Addition of a research question would have been excellent.
